A Big Day for Little Jack - Inga Moore 1995

When the postman brings Little Jack Rabbit an invitation to a birthday party, he's very excited. Daddy buys him a present to take and some smart clothes to wear; his sisters help him to wrap the present; and his big brother Buck gives him a soapy hot bath and tells him what parties are like. But when he realizes that none of them is invited and that he must go to the party alone, Little Jack loses his enthusiasm. As ever though, it's Granpa who saves the day with a reassuring word. He's just finished mending Bunnikin, Little Jack's favourite toy, so now Bunnikin can go to the party too. Little Jack has a great time, playing games and making friends with Rosy and her Teddy, and, at the end of his big day, goes to bed with Bunnikin very happy.

The Big Book of Jack the Ripper - Otto Penzler 2016-10-04

Edgar Award-winning editor Otto Penzler's latest anthology takes its inspiration from the historical enigma whose name has become synonymous with fear: Jack the Ripper. Of the real-life serial killers whose gruesome acts have been splashed across headlines, none has reached the mythical status of Jack the Ripper. In the Ripper's wake, terror swept through the streets of London's East End in the fall of 1888. As quickly as his nightmarish reign came, Saucy Jack vanished without a trace—leaving future generations to speculate upon his identity and whereabouts. He was diabolical in a way never seen before—a killer who taunted the police, came up with his own legendary monikers, and, ultimately, got away with his heinous crimes. More than a century later, the man “from hell” continues to live on in the imaginations of readers everywhere—and in some of the most spectacularly unnerving stories, both fiction and nonfiction, ever written. The Big Book of Jack the Ripper immerses you in the utterly chilling world of Red Jack's London, where his unprecedented evil still lurks. Including:

- Legendary stories by Marie Belloc Lowndes, Robert Bloch, and Ellery Queen
- Captivating essays from George Bernard Shaw, Stephen Hunter, and Peter Underwood
- Riveting new stories by contemporary masters Jeffrey Deaver, Loren D. Estleman, Lyndsay Faye, and many more
- Astonishing theories from the world's foremost Ripperologists
- From the Ripper Vault: · Demonic letters from Jack himself
- Gruesome postmortem exams documenting all the bits and pieces of the cases
- Harrowing witness statements taken on those hellish nights
- Breaking newspaper accounts of the East End hysteria

Port Alberni - Jan Peterson 2014

Any community that has ever been labelled a

"mill town" carries both the promise of prosperity and the constant threat of collapse, its fortune hinging on a single industry whose performance is as much related to the whims of a global economy as it is to the abundance of a key natural resource. The people of Port Alberni, located deep in Vancouver Island's Alberni Valley, know all too well the highs and lows that come with such a label. Jan Peterson, who lived in Port Alberni for two of the town's most tumultuous decades and worked as a reporter for the Alberni Valley Times, describes how the town's people persevered through three decades of boom and bust, developed a vibrant arts and sporting community, and strived to make life better under any circumstances. From the prosperous 1970s, when Port Alberni earned the reputation of "forestry capital of Canada," to the decline of the industry in the 1980s, when economic uncertainty signalled a need for diversification, to the environmental protests in nearby Clayoquot Sound, which polarized the community, Port Alberni tells the story of Port Alberni from a perspective that is rarely heard. Through fascinating interviews and meticulous historical research, Peterson captures the heart and soul of a town so often defined by dollars and cents.

#saytheirnames: Polly, Annie, Elizabeth, Catherine und Mary-Jane Diese fünf Frauen wurden 1888 ermordet. Ihr Tod und noch mehr ihr Leben haben damals kaum jemanden interessiert. Hingegen wurde der unbekannte Täter, dem die Presse den Namen Jack the Ripper gab, mit viel Aufmerksamkeit bedacht. Hallie Rubenhold befreit die fünf ermordeten Frauen aus dem Schatten der Anonymität. In ihren Lebensgeschichten wird eindringlich deutlich, wie hart das Leben als Frau in der Arbeiterschicht zu jener Zeit war und wie katastrophal die Zustände im Armenhaus waren. Und vor allem, wie erbarmungslos die von der

Revisionist Histories - Michael B. Druxman
2011-07

In 1888, the elusive serial killer, Jack the Ripper, terrorized the Whitechapel District of London. Scotland Yard was baffled. But, that same year, Jack met his match when he crossed paths with the dreadfully evil ...really awful...Count Dracula. On July 22, 1934, notorious bank robber John Dillinger was shot "dead" by the FBI in front of Chicago's Biograph Theater. But, on September 17, 1941, in Miami Beach, Florida, John Dillinger met with former "King of Chicago," mobster Al Capone, to plan the biggest heist of his career. In 1803, President Thomas Jefferson completed the Louisiana Purchase with France's Emperor Napoleon Bonaparte. The price was four cents per acre. But, in 2011, Napoleon decided that he wanted his land back. Master storyteller Michael B. Druxman turns history and literature topsy-turvy in six unforgettable tales. Titles include: "The Old Coot," "Dracula Meets Jack the Ripper" "Big
