Die konnatale Zytomegalievirusinfektion - Gabriele Halwachs-Baumann 2011-06-28

Die konnatale Zytomegalievirusinfektion (CMV) ist die häufigste intrauterin übertragene Virusinfektion, mit teilweise schwerwiegenden Folgen für das noch ungeborene Kind. Dieses Buch ist die bisher einzige Zusammenfassung der bis ins Jahr 2001 erschienenen Literatur zur Inzidenz und Prävalenz der CMV-Infektion in der Schwangerschaft, der Übertragungsrate, den Auswirkungen auf das Kind, möglicher diagnostischer und therapeutischer Strategien, sowie einer auf den publizierten Daten beruhenden Kosten-Nutzen-Rechnung. Ein allgemeiner Teil, sowie die Darstellung möglicher pathophysiologische Mechanismen der transplazentaren Übertragung vervollständigen das Thema. Als konkretes Beispiel wurde die in der Steiermark aufgetretene konnatale CMV Infektion herangezogen. Das Buch liefert Basisinformationen zum Thema der konnatalen CMV und einen Überblick vom derzeitigen Stand des Wissens und den therapeutischen Möglichkeiten.

Pediatric Critical Care in Resource-Limited Settings - Krishan Chugh 2019-07-11

Millions of children are dying each year with preventable and reversible critical illness, including circulatory shock and respiratory failure. According to the World Health Organization, in 2015, the under-five mortality rate in low-income countries was 76 deaths per 1000 live births – about 11 times the average rate in high-income countries (7 deaths per 1000 live births). There is limited data about the nature of the delivery of critical care in resource-limited regions. The care of critically ill children in low-resource settings is challenging, contributing factors include limitations in the existing infrastructure, lack of resources, and low numbers of appropriately trained healthcare workers. Meeting these challenges requires clinical evidence pertinent to the local settings, adequate number of well-trained personnel, quality improvement activities, and the ongoing development of preventative measures. In addition, approaches to prevent worsening critical illness in at-risk hospitalized patients are needed. We are presenting 15 state-of-the art manuscripts from international experts, from all settings, involved in the care of critically ill children in resource-limited settings. This collection of manuscripts covers topics including education, research, clinical experience and infectious diseases. We hope that we are providing a window into the future of critical care delivery for all children around the world.
